

TEMPLATE MIGRATION & INTELLEDOX

Intelledox eradicates the issues associated with template migration. Considerable difficulties can be encountered when Microsoft desktop applications are updated and files need to be migrated to the new version. Systems that use macros for document creation often experience breakages, which results in unreadable files. To remedy this, technical IT assistance is required to rebuild and recover templates; this is not only time consuming, but also very expensive and resource intensive.

How Intelledox Can Help

Intelledox document creation enables the smooth and easy transition of template migration. Intelledox ensures that important documents remain damage-free and secure in migration, by treating the problem at the source.

- Intelledox utilises Microsoft Word for the design and layout of document templates
- Intelledox is a powerful XML rules-based engine that automates business processes
- Documents generated by Intelledox are Microsoft version independent, therefore “future-proof”
- Intelledox is fully forward and backward compatible; the system allows for guaranteed file compatibility and retrieval today and tomorrow
- The Content Library is easily updated by administrators and requires no high-level IT training
- Any changes are rolled out in real-time, across the entire enterprise –providing absolute template version control
- Intelledox eliminates the requirement of IT specialists to perform template migration and testing

“The benefits of deploying Intelledox are considerable. The system greatly increases staff productivity and enables a more constructive use of resources...”

Benefits & Return on Investment

With Intelledox, it is no longer necessary for IT staff to perform template migration, file retrievals and testing. Intelledox vastly improves cost efficiency and greatly reduces disruption of organisational operations during template migration.

Intelledox enables the production of accurate, fast, consistent and compliant documents. All documents are created with precise keywords, to ensure rapid and easy retrieval by all types of document management systems. This allows you to accomplish optimum performance from your existing line-of-business systems.

The benefits of deploying Intelledox are considerable. The system greatly increases staff productivity and enables a more constructive use of resources; therefore delivering a significant return on investment. Intelledox is a form of a-synchronous technology, meaning that from a relatively small investment, organisations will experience a considerably large ROI - within in a short time-frame.

Intelledox presents an intriguing case to any organisation that desires to achieve increased productivity and efficiency, while using fewer resources.
